Disclosure under Regulation 30 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015:

Sr. No.	Particulars	Details
1	Industry or area to which the new line of business belongs	The new line of business pertains to the garmenting segment, specifically focusing on the value-added manufacturing of denim garments such as jeans, jackets, and other apparel. This marks a forward integration of the Company's existing denim fabric manufacturing operations, allowing it to move up the value chain from fabric to finished products. The segment falls under the broader apparel and textile industry, which is currently experiencing robust growth driven by: - Increased domestic consumption due to urbanization, rising income levels, and fashion awareness. - Global outsourcing trends and the "China Plus One" strategy being adopted by international brands. - Heightened demand for sustainable, ethically sourced, and locally manufactured garments.
2	Expected benefits	This venture into garment manufacturing is a strategic move aimed at enhancing the Company's value proposition, improving profitability, and ensuring long-term sustainability. The expected benefits include: - Vertical integration of operations, converting in-house denim fabric into finished garments to improve margins. - Opportunity to tap into the growing apparel export market and attract global brands. - Potential to expand into B2C or D2C retail segments. - Utilization of existing manufacturing infrastructure and human resources. - Diversification of revenue streams, reducing the impact of fabric market fluctuations Support for the Company's ESG initiatives by incorporating sustainable garmenting practices.

3	Estimated amount to be invested	The investment required for the garmenting unit will be made in a phased manner, depending on prevailing market conditions and business opportunities. Currently the company has invested approximately Rs. 1.25 crores as an initial capital outlay to cover machinery, skilled manpower, and infrastructure modifications. Further investments are proposed to be funded through a mix of internal accruals and/or debt, as may be appropriate. The company remains flexible in its approach and will scale operations in alignment with demand and capacity utilization.
